Coleman High School Concert Enjoyed By All

(By Ladik Tymchyna)

The Coleman High School Annual Concert, held on April 21 and 22, proved to be highly successful both financially and particularly in the type of quality presented on stage to make it an evening well remembered by those who attended the concert.

This was only accomplished through the enthusiastic efforts of any students who participated in the concert in some way or another (whether they actually performed on stage, or hastily worked back stage, setting up back drops, or got out and sold tickets which proved to be very disappointing at times.)

Very special thanks and consideration is given to the teachers for their patience, worthwhile advice and tiring efforts in many different phases. For example, how to arrange an organized programme so that it is not tiring nor too long, also excellent advice on how to direct a play, and many other things of great value in making a concert successful. The teachers (particularly Mr. Ondrus) actually attended play practices (even during the Easter holidays) to help the directors pick out the faults in the play and then actually showing the students how to act or react to certain parts in the play.

After a successful performance on Friday evening, Mr. Allan, principal, willfully gave the students permission to hold a party immediately after the concert. The High School orchestra started off the dance with a bang and only played for half an hour but it was enough to start the party. Then records were played. Everybody was dancing and had a gay old time. Pop and donuts were free as a reward for the satisfactory results obtained.

At this time, extra thanks is given to anyone who bought a ticket for this worthwhile cause and helping to support the High School to eventually obtain drapes for the auditorium in conjunction with the Junior High School and also still have the high-light of the year, which all the students look ahead to, the Prom.

Both Thursday and Friday evenings, the auditorium was almost full and the audience was very appreciative and particularly very attentive.

"Save a Life" Week Sponsored by St. John Ambulance Brigade

Sponsored by the St. John Ambulance Brigade of Coleman

Mr. J. Kilgannon, secretary of the St. John Ambulance Brigade of Coleman announced today that the Coleman Brigade under the leadership of Mr. E. X. Hill will hold a "SAVE A LIFE" week in the High School Auditorium.

Two-hour classes in artificial respiration will be held during the week of May 16 to 22 for anyone wishing to take them. St. John Ambulance announced today that the Coleman Brigade under the leadership of Mr. E. X. Hill will hold a "SAVE A LIFE" week in the High School Auditorium.

Mr. J. Kilgannon, Secretary said that according to Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures, between 800 and 1,000 people in Canada died each year from drowning. "We feel that many of these lives can be saved if bystanders had only two hours training in the fundamentals of artificial respiration," he said.

The week of classes is being held by St. John across Canada and is being called "Save a Life" week. The classes will consist of one hour's instruction and demonstration and one hour's practice. "People can learn enough to save a life in this time," Mr. Kilgannon said. "It is a short enough time for such a worthy cause. Artificial respiration is the only proved method of reviving a near-drowned person and it is something everyone should know."

The classes are specially valuable for parents who are taking children on summer vacations. Both men and women are invited to attend.

Classes will be held in Coleman and all those wishing to attend can apply by phoning Mr. G. Clarksby 3923 or sending in your name. Classes will be from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. each evening. Contact Mr. W. Hammer for Willow Drive residents.

Mr. F. Slavik of the Summit Lime Works will conduct classes there.

Concert By Calgary Group In Elks Hall

After a number of years, the Coleman music lovers will have an opportunity to hear a concert of variety program, which, no doubt will be interesting to the public in general. The choir of the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians will sing songs in Ukrainian, Russian and the English language. The orchestra will render selections on theme of folk songs and classical. The most interesting to see - the Ukrainian folk dances in new manner performance by the young boys and girls. Such-type dances will be introduced to the Coleman public for the first time. Also the program will have instrumental and vocal solos and duets. This concert ensemble is considered by musical circles in southern Alberta as a fine collection of performers in folk dances and songs. So don't miss it on Sunday, May 1st, 1955, in the Elks Hall, Coleman.

"Jackpot Still Here" Says Coleman Elks

On Friday evening, the Man with a Voice, Johnny "Bingo" Holky sweated out the evening with a capacity crowd in attendance to play Bingo. It is suggested that Mr. Holky get an opened collared shirt, so as the strain will not be so great on his vocal cords, we noticed that as the Jackpot numbers came closer and closer his throat got dryer and dryer, but after 57 numbers had been called with no winners it improved considerably. No wonder after giving away these prizes to the following winners: Groceries: Mrs. M. LeCruix Glass fishing rod - Mrs. J. Rogers. Shirt and tie - Mrs. J. Rushion. G.E. Electric kettle - Mrs. A. Hirst. 3 cartons of cigarettes - I. Raymond. Chenille housecoat - Y. Kimato from the Summit Lime Works. Coffee table - Mrs. H. Neddow. Electric iron - Mrs. T. Lorenz. Spotlight - Mrs. V. Phillips. Dutch oven - Mrs. A. Cerny of Blairmore. Jackpot consolation went to Mrs. J. Field. Other consolations prizes were won by Mr. G. Isaki and Geo. Caravano.

Following the initiation a social evening was enjoyed with a lunch being provided by the Coleman Lodge. A musical variety program was enjoyed by all.

Scout News

It seems as if we are just like the gophers when spring comes around we have to try to let the world know we are still alive.

Well we had a pretty quiet winter as a whole. To begin with we are now using the basement of the new Elks Hall for our meetings. We whitewashed the walls and cleaned up the place. Mr. and Mrs. F. McCocco took over the cloak room on the opening night of the new Hall and the proceeds twelve dollars and thirty cents was used to buy paint, etc. for the basement.

Mr. L. Richards much to our sorrow who served as one of our Scoutmasters, left to take a position in Ottawa. We presented him with a briefcase in appreciation for all the work he had done for us. We did not realize until he left just how much time and effort he had put into this work. We only hope we can replace him.

We were shown films two or three times during the winter through the courtesy of St. John's Ambulance Brigade. For this we wish to thank them.

Most of the boys took First Aid this winter and succeeded in passing.

We are now getting ready for our annual bottle drive. Realizing things are not so bright at home our boys are not paying dues so practically all our revenue must come from this bottle drive. Last year it cost $140.00 to take and feed the boys for ten days outing at McBeths Lake. This year we need more as there are more boys. We take this opportunity to ask that you will support this drive and donate as many bottles as you possibly can to help us get to camp.

We also ask at this time for volunteers to help Scoutmaster DeCocco with the boys this summer. Thinking the public for their past help.

I remain,
Yours truly,
SMILING JOHNNY.

Measure dairy production by output milk per acre

Dr. W. E. Peterson, of the University of Minnesota, feature speaker at Manitoba's 70th Annual Dairy Convention is world famous for his research in dairy production. He stated that the output of milk per acre or milk per man hour rather than on the basis of milk production per cow.

Dairy cows are equipped to handle quantities of forage which man is unable to digest says Dr. Peterson. If we can increase the utilization of forage we can readily increase the efficiency of the dairy cow.

The most logical way to accomplish this is to harvest forage crops early and before the plants produce lignin, a substance difficult to digest. New Zealand has been able to develop the use of forage far beyond any country in the world. Mixtures of alfalfa and bromine have the highest degree of digestibility at the height of 12 to 14 inches.

Rotate pastures

By rotating our pastures it is possible to harvest these plants of their maximum digestibility and greatly increase dairy production. Stage allows harvesting these crops on the days when maximum quality is reached.

The other point that Dr. Peterson stressed was the conservation of labor, a big item in milk production costs. By horse hosing, self feeding and the use of pipe line milkers in milking parlors this is comparatively easy.

Roughage in the form of hay or silage should be fed, according to Dr. Peterson, for efficiency. Their experiments have shown that the pit milking parlor, with cows 30 inches above the milker, in 3 walk through stalls on each side of the pit has proven most efficient for saving labor. Here one man can easily milk 25 cows an hour.

If cows are bred and selected to milk quickly he visualizes that it is possible to milk 50 cows per hour. This would mean that one man with the proper set up could feed and milk 100 cows a day with only 6 hours work and the heaviest lifting would be one set of feet cups. This certainly appears to be taking a lot of the labor out of dairy production.

Other experiments that Dr. Peterson's department are working on is to determine the effect of unequal periods between milkings. They have found no drop in production when periods were changed to 10 to 14 hours as compared to the usual 12 hour period. They now plan on changing the intervals to 8 and 16 hours with the hope that dairying can be brought into urban hours the same as factory work.

GARDEN NOTES—

Easy to make big splash with flowers around cottage

It's easy to make a big splash with flowers even around a summer cottage, country lane or other place where particular care is impossible. The best plan, in any of these cases, is to stick to things like petunias, nasturtiums, cosmos, marigolds, zinnias, asters and similar plants which are not only easily grown but which also will bloom steadily for weeks. With only little care at first these will practically look after themselves.

It is best to have solid beds of one flower, though not necessarily the same color, for the showiest results and one should include some of the newest and brightest varieties.

A long bed of petunias about three feet wide will set off any driveway, and roughly circular beds of zinnias, marigolds, or some of the smaller things will make a wonderful show. Then for the smaller garden there are all sorts of tiny flowers like alyssum, portulaca, poppies and similar flowers which thrive even in poor soil and once well started will crowd out weeds and go on blooming until fall.

Spread it out

It is foolish and it is risky to plant all the garden on a single afternoon and just as soon as the first warm weather comes, it is risky because a late frost may ruin all tender growth. It is foolish because if it escapes frost, all the flowers will come out early or all the vegetables will be ready at the same time.

With the vegetables especially, it is advisable to spread sowings, so that the harvest may be spread out also. Experienced gardeners make a regular practice of planting such things as carrots, lettuces, lettuce, beans, squash, radish, etc., at least three times, about two to three weeks apart. To further spread the harvest, they will also use early, medium and late varieties.

There is no good reason why the vegetable garden should not yield continually from early summer until late fall. And the same goes for most annual flowers, too.

Trans-planting

Practically any plant, when young, can be moved successfully. The main thing is to keep the roots undisturbed, away from the air and to cover quickly and firmly with fine moist soil. Watering during and immediately after transplanting is essential, unless the soil is very moist and also, if possible, we shade for the first few hours or a day or two.

With big things like trees and shrubbery, it is also advisable to tie trunks or main stem firmly to a stake to prevent the wind loosening. If there are any other few things to move, one should do the job in the evening and preferably when there is no wind.

Above all it is most important to cover the roots well and keep the soil firmly pressed around them.

To speed growth and lessen the shock of moving, it is a good plan to sprinkle a little chemical fertilizer around but not actually touching the roots.

Victoria Day Monday, May 23

REGINA.—Schools throughout Saskatchewan will observe Victoria Day on May 23, instead of May 24, this year.

By federal statute, Victoria Day is to be observed throughout Canada on the Monday preceding the 25th day of May.

The Education minister said that May 24th will be a regular teaching day, on which all schools in the province should be in operation. Regular school grants will not be paid for May 23, but will be paid for all schools in operation on May 24th.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

Low blood pressure usually causes much less trouble than high blood pressure, unless it is dangerously low. In this case, it is often a symptom of some other disease which should be treated specifically during which treatment the low blood pressure condition may be remedied.

Accidents chief death cause

Accidents are now the chief cause of death in children under the age of 15, and 83 Saskatchewan children were accidentally killed in 1954, the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health reports. In addition, 3,925 children were treated in hospitals for injuries received in accidents, and some of these will be scarred and disabled for life. The department has designated May 1 as Saskatchewan Child Safety Day in the hope of making adults aware of the danger to children and the responsibility of grownups to give adequate protection. Most accidents to children happen on home premises.

Precautions help service from refrigerator

A refrigerator requires very little care, but a few precautions will help you get more and better service from it.

Cool moist foods before storing, as hot foods make greater demands on the refrigerator. The exceptions to this rule are custards, foods in cream sauce, salad dressings made with butter and eggs, or mildly curd hams. These foods are good media for bacteria growth, and should be either refrigerated while hot or chilled quickly with ice water.

Don't crowd your refrigerator, as it overworks the mechanism. Foods like unopened canned fruit or fruit juices don't need to be refrigerated. An hour or two before using is soon enough to chill them. Use left overs promptly. Plan meals so leftovers will be used while still fresh.

Defrost the refrigerator regularly, as frost prevents maintenance of proper temperatures for storage. Follow the maker's directions.

AIR TRAVEL

Air travel across the Atlantic is soaring and now amounts to 65 percent of trans-Atlantic traffic. More than 4,000 people fly every week by tourist air class and nearly 3,000 by first class.

Tillage operations must give maximum surface protection

Long ago some one fashioned a crude implement with which to till the soil and in so doing marked a great step forward in man's progress toward freedom from want.

Fundamentally, the purpose of tillage is to destroy competing vegetation, as for example in sowing, weeds, and, as the other aims of structure of the soil so that a more favorable seed bed may result. However, cultivation with the many kinds of implements now in use permit rather more drastic modification to the soil than was possible to the primitive farmer with his sharpened stick.

Whether the tillage operations used are on fallow land or cropland, the farmer must be continually aware that tillage may promote destructive erosion of the soil if it is done unwisely.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

GOD INTENDS THAT WE BE BETTER THAN WE ARE

What God intends us to be is undoubtedly something better than we are. Regardless of whatever we have attained, the law of the Christian life is to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

But if we could think of man as starting from scratch, or with an informed life, what does God require?

First of all, honesty and uprightness; righteousness is the very foundation of the godly life. "Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good." For Jew or for Christian, in fact for those of any religion, in any time or place, the essential of the good life is the same.

But the Christian life, what God intends us to be, is not all found in personal goodness. The Christian life is a life of relationship.

Man does not live alone. He has privileges and duties in relation to his fellowman as well as to God, and the nature of his life toward God, in its reality and integrity, is, in fact, determined largely by what man is toward his fellowman.

"If a man say, I love God; and hate his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?" This is plain and very specific, and also very applicable to our present-day world of racial, religious, and sectarian prejudices, jealousies and hatreds.

What a long way we have to travel before we attain to that state in which God intends us to exist!

Fall girls want tall husbands. Every statesque young female hopes to find it necessary to look upward when being kissed by her husband. The thought of having to lean down to kiss her spouse makes her shudder. But there are not enough tall men available as matrimonial mates for tall women. That is because those brilliant man conquerors, the cute little tricks, like tall men, too, and marry so many of them. So many a tall girl has to make the best of a sad situation and settle for a husband who wears height-building shoes.

Easier on umpire

All baseball parks should have powerful "photo decision" cameras. These cameras to take photos of close plays. Then when a manager wished to question an umpire's judgment he could call for a "photo decision" picture. Also when an umpire was not definitely certain as to the calling of a play he could ask for a "photo decision" picture. The umpire could have a special signal indicating "photo decision." I believe such a camera would heighten the interest in a ball game. Think of the arguments that would result among assembled fans when the "photo decision" sign went up.

"Sizing up" the secretary
Can your secretary take a side view of herself in a full-length mirror without shuddering? Is her shape in need of streamlining? If so, it may not all be a matter of suffering from "Stenographer's spread." It could be because of the "coffee breaks." Seems many of the Girl Fridays put too much cream in their coffee and go for a sugar bun or a doughnut during the morning and afternoon coffee breaks. Consequently they are beginning to bulge a bit. Better have a talk with your secretary about this.

Strongest blonde

Ask your wife what she thinks of the figure of a woman having the following measurements: Height, 5 feet 8; bust, 37; waist, 18; and hips, 37. Yes, that's right, waist 18 inches. Those are the measurements of the world's strongest blonde, Joan Rhodes of England. Joan can bend a six-inch nail with her fingers, tear up a thick telephone book with ease, lift a piano and toss a 220-pound man across a room. The juncoque Joan is good looking and is not married.

A threat to mankind

Have you checked your wife's handbag lately to ascertain the number of and kind of things she carries it up with? Every wife should be compelled to stand regular handbag inspection. This for the protection of people who have to stand in line while females with overpacked handbags fumble around for their fare. Women protest that men exaggerate as to the contents of handbags. In this connection consider the fact that a woman reporting the loss of a handbag to the police said it contained among other things two insurance policies, a banana paring knife and a towel.

A personal matter

The battle against baldness continues unabated in Britain. Now one Eugene Plant, a dentist, claims to have a cure he has been working on for 30 years. Why should a dentist be doing hair research? Well, sir, it has been a personal matter. Plant suffered from baldness and was determined to find a cure for it. Some men of science believe he has. Men who are afflicted with baldness should organize and contribute to a fund to be used to thoroughly check all claims as to hair-growing.

BARBECUED BEEF LOAVES

Meat Loaf Mixture:
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup water

4 slices stale bread, finely diced
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons seasoned salt

Combine all ingredients for meat loaves. Mix well and shape into 6 individual loaves in a greased oblong baking pan.

Combine ingredients for the topping, with the exception of the lemon slices. Bake loaves at 350 degrees F. for 15 minutes, then cover with topping and place a lemon slice on each loaf.

Continue baking for 30 minutes, basting occasionally with sauce around loaves. Serve with sauce spooned over loaves. 6 servings.

Small accidents

Painful cuts can be acquired when handling food cans that have been opened. The sharp edges and points can inflict wounds and these should be given first aid immediately they happen. The cut should be cleaned and covered with a dry sterile dressing. Those useful little ready-made bandages are handy to have in the kitchen, since they can be removed from their sterile packages and applied as soon as the accident happens.

Babysitters should be capable

Girls and women who like children and who have patience with them enjoy earning extra money as babysitters. To be a successful and safe temporary guardian of other people's youngsters, the sitter should be capable of dealing with emergencies as well as being able to spend a quiet evening.

The sitter should be able to give a baby his formula if necessary. In case of fire or other emergency, she should have presence of mind and know how to summon help.

A course in both first aid and home nursing are valuable to the babysitter. When the parents leave her in charge, she should be sure that she has a telephone number where they may be reached in case of necessity.

The Sports Clinic

(An official department of Sports College)
Conducted by Lloyd "Ace" Percival

Effects of new skill on old one

Now that spring training is just around the corner and every enthusiastic athlete is trying to get the jump on the other fellow the problem of learning and getting used to new techniques and skills comes up.

The great Knute Rockne, one of the outstanding coaches of all time and coach of a series of highly feared Notre Dame football teams, during one of his equally famous clinics was asked to name what he considered the most important fundamental of success. His answer, which follows, should be well remembered by any athlete. "When a new idea or system is tried the athlete usually feels awkward and loses some of his skill at first and also some of his interest. The wise coach will sell the athlete on the idea that after this temporary period of impaired skill a new peak of efficiency will be reached."

Also remember that the time taken to acquire this new skill or technique depends on the attention and effort the athlete gives to his practice and the confidence in his coach—realizing that he knows what's he's talking about.

Report from Pan-American games

Reports from the Pan-American Games show that tea is very popular with trainers and athletes. It is being used before and after workouts and competitions as an energy jack-up and recovery aid. They are using clear, cool, strong tea sweetened with honey and take 4 to 6 ounces at a time.

Don't carry around excess weight

When an athlete is preparing for the spring season and is overweight he often thinks he can "run off" his excess weight. To lose one pound of fat it takes forty-five miles of easy jogging, 5,700 continuous push-ups, or last but not least, four and seven-eighths hours running at ten miles per hour. The best way to handle this problem is to exercise your self-control and eat sensibly.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)
UNION LEADERS

The last time I wrote a column about union leaders, I found myself in the position of defending the high pay they get. Quite a few working men wrote to me to say that I was away off base. They said that the union leaders were now getting too big for their britches. That they were smoking cigars and driving Cadillacs and had no real interest in the workers pay envelope. Their main desire was to get the check-off so that their own salary and the union funds would pile up.

I replied that I felt a good union leader should be well paid, and that the workers would be foolish not to reward them with high salaries. Now I am beginning to wonder if the workers were right and I was wrong. Some very foolish things have been happening lately.

Some very important labor leaders are now saying that they intend to go all out for a guaranteed annual wage for every union member employed. They are going to insist that employers guarantee a 52-week pay cheque, work or no work. And the ridiculous reason they give for this is that it would be a great help to all of us because then the laborers would have the money to buy from the rest of us.

Well, now, that's all very well for the laborers — but what about "the rest of us"? Who is going to guarantee a writer an annual wage? Or a farmer? Or a hired hand on the farm?

It seems to me it's time some of these labor leaders went out on a farm for a few weeks. Let them rediscover the elemental facts of life.

Nobody can guarantee weather conditions. Nobody can guarantee a crop.

If there are going to be any guaranteed annual wages in Canada, let those guarantees go not to our union workers, turning out automobiles, but to our farmers and farm workers who produce the very raw materials of living.

Surely we have all contributed enough to unemployment insurance to satisfy labor. I have never heard of a farmer collecting unemployment insurance payments — but every farmer helps to pay for them in every manufactured item that he buys.

I don't think very many union workers will be honestly in favor of a guaranteed annual wage. What the union leader is supposed to secure for the workers is more pay in the pay envelope — not some nebulous future guarantee that is likely to cut down on employment rather than to increase it.

Surely union leaders are going to realize, before it is too late, that they have gone altogether too far in their demands. Instead of guaranteed annual wages they are going to talk themselves into guaranteed unemployment. The men and women in this country who are not members of labor unions are getting fed up, and any sympathy that the unions used to get from the general public is rapidly waning. And the acts of a few union leaders like Walter Reuther reflect on all the others.

Are You Worried?

We read much today about the fear of disease. On the one hand we are assailed by admonitions to heed minor symptoms, transient pains, fleeting aches, feelings of uneasiness, and the like, and to take proper steps to avoid serious consequences.

On the other hand, psychologists tell us that many of our ills are, in a way, figments of our imagination. Sometimes, it is true a constant pre-occupation with one's physical condition results in what we know as hypochondria — unwarranted fear of disease.

No doubt the public occasionally is confused by these apparently opposite viewpoints of medical authorities. A reader of a medical columnist one day may find himself persuaded to have a physical examination. Next day another writer tells him that 95 per cent of all ills cure themselves and that most sickness is not of the flesh but of the fancy.

What then should a thoughtful person conclude?

Take, for instance, the program of the Canadian Cancer Society, which is aimed at early diagnosis of a disease that usually can be cured only in the early stages. The Society's doctors are aware of the possibility that an over-avoid concern about cancer's early danger signs might result in the exaggerated fear of that disease which psychologists call "cancerophobia." They know, however, that persons who develop an unnatural fear of cancer have other fears as well. If the source of their anxiety had not been this disease, it most likely would have been some other ailment, or condition, or object. It might even be dogs or cats, or high places, or the dark.

The Canadian Cancer Society's early warning program is a calculated risk. Balanced on one side is the chance that some deeply sensitive and introspective persons will be worried unduly. On the other side of the scales in 1955 are the lives of some 8,000 Canadians. This number represents persons whom medical authorities believe die of cancer needlessly each year. They are the ones whose lives could have been spared had they heeded the early warning message of the Cancer Society and sought proper treatment in time.

With this great weight of human lives in the balance, can anyone wonder why the scales have been tipped in the direction of a dynamic nation-wide program to alert people about cancer?

We can't all be calm and dispassionate, but most of us have enough discipline to give thoughtful regard to this question. When the occasion arises and you are worried about your physical condition, isn't the sensible solution simply to see your doctor?

And see him once a year, anyhow — no matter how good you feel. Worry a bit about yourself once in a while. In small doses it's good for you.

Air Cadet Nomination Day

April 29th, Monday, May 2nd will be an important day in the lives of hundreds of top Air Cadets across Canada. Marking the close of national Air Cadet Week, May 2nd has been designated by the Air Cadet League as "Nomination Day" for the special training awards provided by the League and the R.C.A.F. each summer.

During the next two weeks, League selection committees at both provincial and national levels will select the 508 outstanding Air Cadets who will qualify for special rewards in 1955.

Two hundred and fifty of the Cadets will be granted R.C.A.F. flying scholarships covering 30 hours of actual flying instruction. The four weeks course will commence early in July and training will be given at member clubs of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association spaced across the country. Successful graduates will qualify for the Air Cadet flying badge as well as private pilot's licenses.

One hundred cadets will be chosen for a seven week "Senior Leaders Course" to be held at R.C.A.F. Station, Camp Borden. Operated as a "Junior staff college" the course will train cadets for future positions of responsibility with the squadrons.

Another one hundred cadets will be selected for the first Air Cadet Drill Instructors Course to be held during the summer at Abbotsford, B.C. From this group will be chosen a 40-man precision drill squad which will compete with an American drill team for the General Beau Trophy at the Canadian National Exhibition late in August.

A total of fifty-eight cadets will be hand-picked for the League's top award — an exchange visit trip to the United States, United Kingdom or continental Europe. Six countries have joined hands with Canada in this highly successful "get acquainted" scheme. Names of the prize winning candidates will be announced by Air Cadet League headquarters, Ottawa at the end of May.

Answers to last week's Brain teasers: —

No. 1. What Does The Maltese Cross represent?

The Maltese Cross was originally the badge of the Knights of Malta, a religious and military order formed in the twelfth century to relieve the poor and the strangers in the Holy Land. Known as the Hospitallers of St. John of Jerusalem, one of their functions was to provide military escorts to pilgrims going to visit the Holy Sepulcher at Jerusalem. After the fall of the Holy City, and Acre the order removed to the Island of Rhodes, where it was known as the Knights of Rhodes from 1309 to 1522, when it was vanquished by Solyman II. The Knights then established themselves on the island of Malta, where they soon became known as the Knights of Malta.

No. 2. Who said "A man house is his castle"?

Sir Edward Coke (1522-1634), the great oracle of the English common law. In the third volume of his Institutes, published in 1628, the former Chief Justice said "A man's house is his castle", and in Semayne's case, decided in 1605, he declared that "The house of every one is to him his castle and fortress, as well for his defence against injury and violence as for his repose. The legal principle embodied in "A man's house is his castle" is much more comprehensive than many people suppose. It means that a home is inviolable not only to arbitrary invasion and search but also to officers armed with legal warrants. No officer, according to this maxim, may force open a door of the home if the occupant refuses to admit him. In practice, however, the principle applied only to civil cases. William Blackstone in 1765 wrote "No outward door of a man's house can in general be broken open to execute any civil process; though in criminal cases, the public safety supercedes the private". In a speech in the House of Commons on the Eycote Bill in 1760 the Elder Pitt graphically illustrated the importance of this legal maxim to the ordinary citizen: "The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all force of the Crown. It may be frail, its roof may shake; the wind may blow through it; the storms may enter, the rain may enter, — but the King of England cannot enter; all his forces dare not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement."

An Irish lawyer trying a case before Justice John Toler (1470-1831), the first Earl of Norbury, said of his client's home that "the rain may enter, but not the King." "What?", exclaimed the jurist, "not even the reigning King?"

No. 3. How were the Plains of Abraham named?

The heights near Quebec known as the Plains of Abraham took their name from Abraham Martin, a Canadian pioneer said to have been of Scotch descent, who was a pilot on the St. Lawrence River in the time of Samuel de Champlain, founder of the city. Champlain himself authorized a deed granting the pilot a homestead on the heights of Quebec. Martin was affectionately known among the French inhabitants as Maitre Martin and his herds of cattle and sheep were a common sight on the tableland along the St. Lawrence. On September 15, 1759, on the Plains of Abraham was fought a historic battle that determined whether the French or English were to dominate Canada.

No. 4. Which Sex of the Mosquito bites?

The male mosquito does not bite. He is strictly a vegetarian. Only in the female is the proboscis fitted for biting and bloodsucking. The mouth parts of the male are rudimentary and he could not bite no matter how hard he tried. This, at any rate, is true of all common mosquitoes. Whether bloodsucking is common to both sexes in any rare species is a disputed question. "So far as we know" states the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, "there is no species of mosquito of which the male sucks blood."

No. 1. How Did "cartilage" originate?

No. 2. How did the Jack Rabbit get its name?

No. 3. Why are certain soldiers called grenadiers?

No. 4. How did "bungalow" originate?

About five per cent of lung cancer cases are cured today. Over fifty per cent could be cured if they were diagnosed early enough, the Canadian Cancer Society says.

New Film On First Aid

Hon. Milton F. Gregg, Minister of Labor, announced today that the newest Federal Department of Labor accident prevention film is receiving its premiere showing in Toronto today at the annual convention of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

In making the announcement, Mr. Gregg said that the previous six films made by the National Film Board for the department in the accident prevention field, under the general heading "Accidents Don't Happen", had been highly successful. They had been seen by thousands of Canadians and were continuing to fill a real need in the industrial safety field.

He felt that the new film might prove to be the most useful of them all since the message it contained applied to everyone in all walks of life. The subject of the new film is "The Early Handling of Spinal Meningitis".

Mr. Gregg said that medical experts most qualified to discuss spinal injuries had assured the department that a great many cases of permanent paralysis and death from such injuries were the direct result of mishandling by persons at the scene of the accident. Many injured persons each year have their injuries increased as a result of the natural desire of those at the scene of an accident, industrial or otherwise, to rush the patient to the local hospital, forgetting that improper handling of a badly injured back may result in paraplegia or even death.

In addition to the inestimable suffering and hardship resulting from mishandling, there was the question of high costs in dollars and cents. The Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board had reported that one paraplegic case may cost employers assessed under the Workmen's Compensation Act from $50,000 to $100,000.

The film offers first the message that if a spinal injury is suspected the patient is not to be moved under any condition unless qualified first aid is available. Even sitting the patient up to give him a drink of water may have fatal results. The film goes on to explain what is meant by a broken back and how the injury need not be permanent if handled properly. It then shows the elements of first aid handling.

In the preparation of the film the department and the Film Bd. had as consultants the following:

Dr. Harry Botterell, Department of Neurosurgery, University of Toronto; Dr. Robert Mustard, Department of Surgery, University of Toronto; Dr. Alben Jousse, Medical Director, Lyndhurst Lodge, Canadian Paraplegic Association, and Dr. Harvey Doney, Lyndhurst Lodge, Canadian Paraplegic Association.

Although designed primarily for industrial showing, Mr. Gregg reported that it had a much wider appeal and it was expected that it would be in demand particularly by those with the teaching of first aid.

Red Cross Reports On Collection

A total of $751.58 has been collected so far in the town of Coleman and district campaign for funds according to returns listed at the divisional office in Calgary on April 18. Provincial quota this year is $475,800 of which $74,484.79 has been reported from points other than Calgary or Edmonton. Edmonton has collected $113,350 while Calgary has collected $125,621.26. Direct donations amount to $6,000.

It is expected that the full quota will be reached during the year for books are kept open until December 31. However, branches have been urged to complete their quotas as quickly as possible in order not to infringe on other charitable campaigns.

It is interesting to note that, according to Canadian Red Cross Society tabulations at National Headquarters as of April 7, Alberta was fifth in its collections across Canada with British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec leading.

Across Canada, collections average about five per cent more than at this same time last year. However, it is expected that quotas will be reached once weather and road conditions improve.

Advertising...

Modern advertising is a necessity to hold and build business. Be proud of your business, of the goods you have to sell, of the services you have to offer in your particular line. Show the progressive spirit and the desire to serve by advertising. Do not hide your light under a bushel — proclaim far and wide who you are and what you have to sell and where your place of business is, for public memory is short, and advertising is a powerful aid to all types of businesses. Moreover, people as a general rule shop where they are invited.

Coleman Legion News

Darts, seem to have taken the highlight for this week with two tournaments being played on Wednesday evening in Coleman. The boys from Hillcrest were guests in a dart competition, with the Legion Boys getting a little of their own back. Last time the boys played in Hillcrest, why Hillcrest just didn't give them a show. The fellows tell me that the tide has turned, and it appears so by the winners list. In first place were Jimmy Ewing and Steve Kobewka of Coleman, second place Mike Kulig and Taffy Phillips of Coleman. 3rd place went to Danny Squarek and his partner, name not known, from Hillcrest, with fourth place being taken by Randy Kulig and Miller Flemming. Nice going fellows, but watch out that bunch from Hillcrest are thirsting for revenge and will be right on the bit next time. But say fellows what happened to you on Friday evening in the Bellevue Legion, was the competition to tough or were you just giving them a chance, we notice that only one team got in the money, got to we can't let them get too much; watch that, as those guys down there are lean and hungry, and we can't let them get too much. Oh well Fred Hirst and Joe Myslickie brought home an appetizer by taking third place. Yes I guess we had better tell you the other winners, although we don't like to advertise them too much, I'd put the names in small print if this typewriter had small print. So instead I'll put them in Capital letters 1st. HARRY JEPSON and ED DESAUNEY, gosh, that's too big almost headlines, so we will try again, second place went to Senich and Connors, with fourth place being given to Svoboda and Allsopp, and now you members on the committee? Please remember to keep a record of the winners with their first names included. You will do, swell fellows.

In regards to our Film Nite's a considerable number of requests have come in for Red Shoes, but there is still quite a number of you folks yet to be heard from, so let's have your choice this week. Boys I have found where the film is that was taken on the World's Championship Game, between Perticton and Russia, but just when I can get it still remains the problem. In regards to the V.E. Day social event that was to be held on May 6th, owing to circumstances beyond our control this event has been dropped for the present, but the President assures us that he is planning something for the near future. Boy I hope that it does not include too much of that thing called Work. Yes, while we are talking about work that man Kulig has a few things for us to do in the very near future, such as tree planting and lawn cleaning, and gosh knows what else, let's fool him this time and really turn out in strength and do this work in jig-time, maybe the Presidents account will spring for some refreshments, we hope? Did you notice that the Sec-manager has been walking around with a smile lately, it seems as if the fellows are paying their dues much better, but there is some of you who are rather slow and as he must have your dues very soon so as to close the membership books for the first half of this year. So put a bigger smile on him by paying your dues NOW. Fred Hirst, the sick committee chairman states that not too many members are on the sick list now. Bob Parry is home from the Belcher Hospital and any of you fellows who have a few spare minutes drop up and see Bob.

Bingo will be played again on Friday evening, with more numbers being added also the Jackpot will have grown in size.

Alex Kovacik Sparks Hillhurst Club For Hockey Title

Alex Kovacik is a well known Coleman boy now residing in Calgary, and playing hockey for the Hillhurst Hustlers in the Big Six League.

Alex played all his hockey in the Pass, graduating from Coleman Juveniles to play for the Bellevue Junior A's. It is interesting to note that the Canmore Flyers, who defeated the Coleman Grands in the Alberta playoffs were downed by the Hustlers. The following is an excerpt from The Albertan:

"Alex Kovacik, far from being a prolific scorer during the regular season, put on a sensational show for the over 4,000 fans by netting four goals and earning three assists to pace the Hustler attack."

Spring storms wreck orchards, up wheat hopes

Old Man "Winter" saved up his ammunition of snow, sleet, hail and cold this year for one huge crop-wrecking blast at spring. The supposedly gentle season was less than a week old when the U.S. farmers waded through storm-tossed debris, totaled a $50 million-plus tabulation of damage to crops. Almost completely wiped out was the southern peach crop; watermelon, apple, cucumber, corn, strawberry and peon crops suffered multimillion-dollar damage. Only bright aspect to the generally gloomy picture was the wheat outlook; Kansas wheat men hailed the heavy snow blanket as a new lease on life in water reserve for wheat fields in summer to come.

Bright side of this picture is reflected from same snow which makes life miserable for cattle on a Kansas farm. Wheat farmers hail it as life-saving supply of moisture for upcoming wheat crops.

SIR ANTHONY EDEN

Fifty-seven-year-old Sir Anthony Eden has realized a longtime ambition as he was made Prime Minister of England following Sir Winston Churchill's retirement. WALTER HARRIS in his first budget has given the tax payers a shot-in-the-arm by knocking down personal and corporation income taxes and lowering the taxes on automobiles and tires. Married tax payers with an income of $5,000 a year will get at least a 12 percent reduction in his personal income tax on his first paycheck next July. Corporation tax drops from 49 percent to 47 percent as of last January 1st. A saving of some $75 on the price of the lowest priced new cars will be realized due to the reduction of from 15 percent to 10 percent on the special excise tax on automobiles. The 10 percent special excise tax on tires and tubes has been cut out completely.

ANTENNA FOR GHOST-TO-GHOST NETWORK — Frederick Spiegelberg, professor of Asian civilization, examines a Tibetan ghost trap on display at the University of Stanford, at Stanford, Calif. Fashioned of sticks and colored thread, it is mounted in mud mixed with human ashes. Tibetans believe that drawings of people and animals on slats lure ghosts into circle of small traps. Ghosts then become entangled in TV antenna-like device. When wood tufts at points of antenna become damp, it's a sign ghost is trapped. Antennae come in 14 different designs, one for each major type of spirit Tibetans hope to ensnare.

Gall bladder trouble common

Gall bladder disorders in various forms are quite common, some persons being unaware that they have such trouble. The gall is a small sac which forms a temporary storage place for the bile necessary to digestion. If this becomes clogged with stones forming in it, the patient may feel pain either in the right side or other parts of the abdomen. Attacks of indigestion and nausea may also accompany the pain. Modern medical science has developed methods of treating this disorder, which sometimes involves only a prescribed diet and system of exercises.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

And then it was night

By ANNIE KENDALL WILSON

AN alley shadowed by tall buildings the new moon got a chance to show its face early, and Bruce Herman threw up his head and thought about home. He touched the letter from Margie he had brought herself close with that letter.

On a night like this the whole crowd would be down at the corner drug store. Margie's yellow hair would lie like sunlight on her neck and she would be gesturing and talking in that way which always stirred him up. Why didn't they all get good jobs to begin with? Her eyes peered up at him from under dark lashes as she took time out to her chocolate soda. "Don't any of you read the want ads in the city paper? There's nothing in this town," she turned up her nose scornfully, and then she would sigh—"If I could leave Mother—but then I'll never have a chance."

Sometimes Bruce was sorry for her, but other times he wasn't quite sure she meant it. But it was what she said about want ads that sent him to the manager of a big department store in the city, and got him this job in men's wear.

The letter in his pocket made a warm spot. He was waiting to get to his room to read it. "The one most likely to succeed," he could hear her saying a little huskily that last night when the whole crowd came down to see him off.

It was hot in the city and no moon nor sun either from the small windows of his close room. It seemed as if he were suffocating at times and that he would have to go back to Mom and the big cool house in the little town, but he couldn't do that—quit his first job.

Bruce hadn't met many people there were Nancy and Susan, who worked hard like he did. They thought up things at night to try out at the store, but these ideas usually vanished under the manager's practical eye.

They ate lunch together and talked about the store. Bruce wanted to put men's wear near the ladies' department. Women did most of the buying anyway.

Budget seen as good news for farmers

Commenting on the recent federal budget, J. D. Wilson, president, Manitoba Federation of Agriculture and Co-operation, said that Hon. Walter Harris' budget contains some good news for farmers.

"Not only are the many tax and excise reductions welcome, but most significant is the fact that the government has been able to withstand the strong pressure of certain protectionist elements for higher tariffs which could only result in higher farm production costs."

"We are particularly pleased to note that there is no increase in tariffs against British woolsens, a move against which the organized farmers have fought strongly through the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. For that matter the budget contains tariff concessions on a wide range of farm items on which we had previously made representations through G.F.A."

"The government's decision to support GATT and to take its full responsibility for furthering world trade is particularly important to prairie farmers whose prosperity is so dependent on their ability to sell surplus products abroad."

Saskatchewan announces immunization program with Salk polio vaccine

REGINA.—Following announcement that the Salk polio vaccine had proved a success, the Saskatchewan department of Public Health has completed arrangements to immunize 25,000 boys and girls born in 1949 and 1950 against polio. The immunization will be free of charge, the expense being shared by the federal and provincial governments. Vaccination will be done with three injections, the first two treatments being a week apart, the third a month later.

Health minister T. J. Bentley said that organization in Saskatchewan and Regina and in seven other health regions was under direction of the medical health officers concerned. In the health regions the clinics will be set up at key points chosen by the health officers.

Selected centres
Outside the two cities and the health regions, clinics will be operated at 15 selected centres to which children are to be brought by their parents or guardians from designated areas. The centres are Biggar, Canora, Colonsay, Davidson, Hudson Bay, Humboldt, Kenosha, Kindersley, Melville, Melfort, Neudorf, Outlook, Roseworth, Walcott and Yorkton.

Mr. Bentley said it was expected that the first injections would be given in Saskatchewan and Regina in the health regions May 2 to 7, the second doses May 9 to 14, and the final treatment June 6 to 11.

In the unorganized area the first injection will be May 16 to 21, the second May 23 to 28, and the third and final dose June 20 to 25.

The children in the Northern Administration Area of the province are not included at this time and these will be given the protection at a later date.

Mr. Bentley said that the immunization against polio would be started in the health regions and the two cities because they have fully organized public health staffs. After the initial doses in the health regions, regional nurses will be loaned for the work in the unorganized areas.

The health minister said that the department began its preliminary work in the health regions at that time it was indicated that the results of the large-scale test program in the United States and some parts of Canada would be known by the middle of public health nurses, two local

Spring thaw Warning

In most areas of the province, rotting ice and running water are creating a real hazard. These hazards are especially attractive to children.

Parents should warn their children about the water dangers in their own locality. They should, at this time, make a special effort to keep a sharp eye on children under school age.

Red Cross suggests that now is a good time to have safety equipment handy such as a long pole, a 50 foot length of light rope and possibly, a couple of inflated inner tubes.

Remember, where there is water and children, the children often end up in the water.

Should be watched

Novice and non-swimmers should be watched by a good swimmer whenever they are wading or swimming. Wade only where the bottom is known to be safe. Do not swim after a heavy meal. Wait 2 hours. It is believed that a full stomach is a contributory cause of stomach cramps. Also may place undue strain on the heart. If you must swim stay close to shore. Swim champions cool off gradually by rubbing water over entire body before diving. If the body is over-heated from exercising or sunning and suddenly cooled off, blood vessels contract creating a high blood pressure which may cause fainting.

Non-swimmers should stay out of boats. Novice swimmers should try their boating with a competent person and in very shallow water. Can you swim well with clothes on? Learn to tread water, hands only, feet only, this is a most useful skill for resting, clearing the throat, disrobing, helping someone else. Do not dive into unknown waters, wade in until you find out the depth and if bottom is free of obstructions. If you are pushed, or must get into the water quickly at an unfamiliar bathing place, jump feet first (sturdy jump).

Over the fitted bodice she wore a jacket of Chantilly lace which featured an Elizabethan collar and jilypoint sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion net was caught to a coronet of silk sprinkled with rhinestones and mother-of-pearl, and she carried a cascade of pink heather and yellow roses.

Mrs. Margaret Fleming, Coleman, matron of honor, was gownned in a waltz-length dress of pink net, the strapless bodice covered by a matching jacket of lace.

Bridesmaids, Miss Diana Guerdard of Coleman, and Miss Rene Fisher, chose similarly styled dresses in shades of aqua and shirimp, which they complemented with matching net stoles. All wore close-fitting feather caps to match their dresses and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations and narcissus.

Little Diane Fleming of Coleman, was flower girl, and wore a frock of yellow taffeta with black ribbon sash. Spring flowers formed a garland for her hair and were repeated in her bouquet.
